RECYCLED CONTENT:

Michigan Maple Block uses a process called finger-joining. This allows us to use short pieces of wood which otherwise would be discarded. In effect recycling the raw material into a useable item to be manufactured into our product line. This finger joint material represents approximately 30 % of our lumber usage. It should also be noted that cartons we pack our products in are made from 30.2 % recycled and 28% post consumer recycled product. Michigan Maple Block also purchases used pallets to continue the recycling process.
